“I am very happy about the Spouse Program. It helps me a lot not to feel lonely, lost and as a total stranger.”

“I would not have been able to find a job in my first ten months without the support of the Spouse Program.”

Steps to consider for a successful program

- What makes your service unique
- Decide on Open Platform vs Closed Cycle
- Make sure to have enough resources
- Define Target group and how you will reach it
- Avoid services with similar value
- Define possible collaboration partners in advance
- Different needs of participants require a flexible program

Partnership Opportunities

Promote our program to the spouses of your int. employees.

Become an active partner and support participants with your input.

How different stakeholders can work together

- Define most suitable collaboration partners
- Include partners early on in the build-up process of the program
- Agree on timeline and goals of collaboration
- Regular updates
- Don't start with too many partners
